SUBMARINE IS REPORTED

paintings and landscapes for exhibition in New York and Chicago.

Winter was 28 years old.

At Tunis and Malta.
NAPLES, (Via Paris) Nov. 10.—The owners of the Ancona have received advice that 320 of those aboard the Ancona have been landed at ports in Tunis and fifty at Malta.

The sinking of the steamer Ancona by a hostile submarine has caused intense indignation in official circles in Rome and among the Italian public generally.

Thus far, Mr. Page, the American ambassador, has been unable to ascertain definitely whether there were any American passengers aboard the Ancona. The Rome office of the Italian line, to which the Ancona belonged, likewise is in the dark in this respect. It was said there today that an American family had intended to sail by the Ancona, but that their reservations had been cancelled and that it was unknown whether any Americans had booked passage through the Naples office.

Attempts to communicate with the Naples office were prevented by the stringent military regulations.

Owing to the recent activity of hostile submarines in the Mediterranean, orders have been issued to the Italian fleet to redouble their efforts to capture or destroy these underwater craft and also to watch particularly any attempt to guard boats plying between the Mediterranean and the U. S. and also in the Otranto canal.

Additional reports received here are that the Ancona was sunk with out an opportunity for her passengers to escape. The reports say that the submarine first fired a warning shot, whereupon the Ancona immediately stopped. Two shots then struck the ship, one forward and one aft, but it is uncertain whether they came from a gun or were torpedoes.

An explosion resulted from one of the shots and the steamer sank rapidly before the boats could be lowered or help arrive from the wireless call.

Attacked By Two Crafts.
PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Ancona was attacked by two submarines, both trying the Austrian flag, says a Havana dispatch from Cape Bon, Tunis.

The international phase of the sinking of the Ancona is attracting special attention owing to the attitude of President Wilson with respect to the limitation of submarine activity against merchant vessels.

The French government has received only meager reports of the disaster, and these have not disclosed whether the commander of the submarine investigated the neutrality of the passengers and gave them time to take to the boats before sinking the ship.

The French steamer Plaidan rescued one hundred persons from the Ancona, who were among those landed at Bizerta. Those who took to the small boats after the vessel went down suffered great hardships before they reached shore.

Was Chasing Ancona.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Rome and Milan dispatches to the London morning papers allege that when the submarine gave chase the Ancona increased her speed but the submarine slowly caught up to her and began firing, repeatedly hitting the stern of the vessel.

Scenes of panic occurred aboard the Ancona when eventually the captain gave up his attempt to escape, whereupon after further shelling, the submarine fired a torpedo.

The Ancona listed and began to sink. There was no time to lower all the boats. Many of the passengers who were rescued jumped overboard with life belts.

A wireless call for help brought the French steamer Plaidan and several launches to the scene. They made many rescues.

It is thought possible that the same submarine sank the Marselles steamer France, which had dis-

CELEBRATE CORONAL RITES

Japanese of Salt River Valley—150 in Number—Gather at Odd Fellows' Hall for Big Ceremonial and Dinner

The Salt River valley Japanese colony, numbering about 150 persons, celebrated yesterday afternoon and evening the coronation of Emperor Yoshihito. The ceremonies were held at the Odd Fellows hall, and men, women and children took part.

Never was a more patriotic gathering of members of an oriental race held in Phoenix. Large portraits of the emperor and of his wife were displayed in the front of the hall, which was decorated in a most elaborate oriental manner. Each one, as he entered, bowed low in homage before the pictures.

All the colors of the rainbow were found in the decorations, where Japanese and American flags were hung side by side. The ceremony closed late last night with a big banquet in the same hall.

ATHLETICS SUBJECT AT P. H. S. ASSEMBLY

Also Principal Cook Tells About Value of High School Education

Interesting speeches were heard in the assembly held at the high school during the first hour yesterday morning.

The object of the assembly was to advertise both the basketball and football games to be staged Saturday. The basketball teams both the girls and boys will journey to Glendale Saturday morning, leaving at nine-thirty so they will be there on time for the game at 10:30 sharp. This game is being played in the morning so the students can attend both games, and see the big football game in the afternoon between Prescott and Phoenix highs.

Captain Marlar of the football team got up on the platform and made a very interesting and fascinating speech on "How the team would run the Prescott Kewpies around the field Saturday."

Coach Carpenter of the basketball team also made a very interesting speech on how the team had improved in the last two weeks. "They don't intend to lose another game," he explained.

Principal Cook's speech left an impression on every student when he finished telling about how the graduate of a grammar school if he didn't go to school any more but started into work, averaged about $300 per year salary. Those who graduate from high school average $1200 per year. Mr. Cook also stated that some of the students, about five in the past week, came to him and said that they are sixteen years old and they feel that they must graduate this year, so they may start working next year.

harked a thousand French troops at Mudros, Lemnos Islands.

Prince Cassano was among those saved from the Ancona and it is presumed all first class passengers aboard the steamer embarked on the same boat with him, says a Naples dispatch to the Express. It is believed, therefore, that Mrs. Cecile Greil, an American citizen, also is safe.

A Central News dispatch from Rome says there is no news of 110 persons who were on board the Ancona, and that it is presumed they were killed by the gun fire of the submarine. The only American in the first cabin, the dispatch says, was Mrs. Greil.

Report on Americans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Cecil L. Greil, among the survivors of the Ancona is believed to be the wife of Dr. Cecil L. Greil of New York, who was at one time medical director of the Manhattan trade school for girls.

L. Geiger called at the steamship office and said his brother, E. Geiger, an American citizen, and the latter's wife had sailed on the Ancona. Geiger said his brother was in the advertising business and had spent eleven years in Italy.

Umberto Lamura of New York believes that his wife and son, three years old, were among the passengers on the steamer Ancona. Two days ago he received a cablegram from his wife dated November 6, at Scafati, near Naples, informing him of her intention to return on the Ancona. Lamura is a naturalized American citizen.

FREE JUICE FOR THE FAIR WINDOW DISPLAY

Local merchants who wish to make displays in some of the store windows now vacant should get in touch at once with Vic Hanny, who is chairman of the committee having this work in charge. The Pacific gas and Electric company has again agreed to give "juice" free for fair week to all merchants desiring to utilize the windows of unoccupied stores, and quite a number have already made arrangements to do so.

There are still several very attractive windows that are available.

BIG SHOWING WILL BE MADE IN SOCIAL DEPT.

The sociological exhibit in charge of Dr. Neff is proving to be a bigger thing than was at first supposed. There are now on the ground exhibits from all parts of the United States. The American Society for Social Service has a large exhibit as have several other national associations engaged in this sort of uplift work. It was thought at first that a tent which had been erected just adjoining the Woman's building would be large enough to accommodate both this display and that of the Arizona state game warden's office, but indications are now that the sociological exhibit will be larger than the space provided.

FINE EXHIBITS IN FOR WOMEN'S DEPT. AT FAIR

The work in the woman's department is so crowded this year and the probability of the force getting all the checks for entries out by the opening has compelled Mrs. R. M. Tafel, the superintendent of that department to decide to accept exhibits for which entries have been made without the tags this year. Exhibitors with displays for which entries already have been made are therefore requested to take their exhibit to the fair grounds today or tomorrow and the tags will be placed thereon at that time.

The Woman's building will be opened this morning at 9 o'clock for the reception of textile fabrics, needle work and the like.

The cooked food will not be received until Saturday.
